Prostitution alleged

Three arrested at truck stop

By Scott Cousins
 Staff writer

Madison police are hoping recent arrests at Gateway Midstate Truck Plaza are sending the proper message — if you don't have legitimate business there, stay away.

On Sept. 13, a St. Louis woman was arrested and charged with prostitution.

On Sept. 18, two Springfield, Mo., women were charged with criminal trespass.

Judith Karen Andrews, 42, of St. Louis, was charged last week with prostitution after she was arrested at the truck stop. Her companion — a 32-year-old St. Louis man who had allegedly approached security guards several times about allowing women to solicit truck drivers at the business — was also arrested, but the St. Clair County State's Attorney's office declined to prosecute.

Charges of unlawful possession of a controlled substance against the two are pending lab analysis.

Detective Neal Mize said the man had approached a security guard at the truck stop several times and allegedly attempted to bribe the security guard.

'We jumped at the chance to arrest this guy,' Mize said. He said police had waited one night to arrest the man, but he didn't show up, and they arrested him at a later date.

Mize said the woman had allegedly propositioned a security guard on previous occasions. In the other case, Cynthia L. Robinson, 18, and Destiny Lynn Dykes, 19, both of Springfield, Mo., were arrested Wednesday after being detained by security guards at the truck stop.

TIF sought for golf complex

Pontoon Beach considers 150-acre development plan

By Scott Cousins
 Staff writer

Pontoon Beach will examine the possibility of a second tax increment financing district to help with a development in the eastern part of the village.

At a special board meeting Wednesday, trustees approved a resolution to examine the feasibility of a TIF district. However, the resolution calls for the entire development in place before the TIF is implemented.

Village officials said Cletus Idoux of Granite City has proposed developing a golf course and housing complex for senior citizens on approximately 150 acres near the intersection of Illinois 162 and Interstate 255.

The village now has one TIF district, including both commercial and residential development.

In a TIF district, the amount of property tax revenue received by taxing bodies is frozen, and any increase goes into a fund that can be used only for improvements within the district.

Because financing for the development was not completed, Idoux declined to comment at this time.

Idoux had met with village officials recently, and had talked to Trustee Mike Macek, who chairs the village's Economic Development Committee.

'He is asking us to go on record as sponsoring a TIF,' Macek said.

At previous meetings, Idoux had requested the village finance part of the development with general obligation bonds, which village officials rejected.

Macek said Idoux had called him after that meeting and said he just wanted to know the village would consider a TIF.

That caused a brief argument between Macek and Trustee Bob Vincent, who said he didn't want 'one-on-one' negotiations with developers.

Macek said he and Mayor Glen Wilson had been talking with Idoux, and that Idoux had called him. Macek added that developers would not come forward if they had to discuss their plans in open session before the full board.

The two continued to argue until Macek said if Vincent wanted, he would resign from the Economic Development Committee and let Vincent take over.

Rams' Farr to sign autographs

Defensive tackle DeMarco Farr of the St. Louis Rams and Rams cheerleader Melissa Pennell of Granite City will be at the Pontoon Beach Dairy Queen, 3901 Pontoon Road, from 5 p.m. to 8:30 p.m. Tuesday, Sept. 24, to sign autographs.

Their visit is part of Dairy Queen's and the Rams' effort to raise money for the Children's Miracle Network of Greater St. Louis.

Stores in the St. Louis area held a contest to raise money for the program.

In two months the Pontoon Beach store raised about $2,700, and had raised more than $14,000 in 1995.

Money raised is used to support both Cardinal Glennon Children's Hospital and St. Louis Children's Hospital, sponsors said.

'It has taken some time to get the arrangements confirmed, but we are excited to have these guests at our store,' said owner Bob Steen. 'We think it is going to be an exciting evening.'

Because of the time limit, autographs will be given on a first-come, first-served basis.

Racist government?

Garrett says county deserves blame

By Scott Cousins
 Staff writer

Madison County Board member Don Garrett, D-Madison, said Wednesday that by allowing the Ku Klux Klan to hold a rally at the Madison County Courthouse in 1994 and not pursuing affirmative action, the county government is partially responsible for several recent racially-motivated crimes.

To correct the problems, he proposed barring radical groups from county property, creating an oversight committee to make sure proper hiring policies are followed and to notify all county board members when vacancies and promotions come up.

During a 10-minute speech at the end of the county board meeting, Garrett talked about several recent "cross-burnings" in the area.

'And no matter how you look at it...cross burning is an act of terrorism,' he said.

'And what that means is that we must confront the despicable fact that we have terrorism here in Madison County.'

He then said that those terrorists seen to be centered in the "greater Edwardsville area."

Since March, there have been cross-burnings reported in Granite City and Glen Carbon, and in August a firebomb was thrown through the window of a mixed-race couple just outside of Maryville.

Garrett noted that all these events took place after a Ku Klux Klan rally between the courthouse and administration building in Edwardsville in 1994.

Because the board did not stop the rally, he said, it may have unintentionally contributed to the incidents.

He also said that while there were minorities working in county government, there were no minorities in some departments, and no minorities in positions of upper management.

'Even worse, when one considers the agencies where we appoint members to boards throughout Madison County, the situation is deplorable,' he said. 'So deplorable that when one takes a look at Madison County government and its extensions throughout the county, weak-minded people might easily conclude that Madison County is a racist haven and cross burnings are in.'

He also said some agencies were "dinosaurs" that do not serve the county well because those who run the agencies do not have to answer to the voters.

He cited the Madison County

Don Garrett

Housing Authority and the Metro East Sanitary District as examples.

'We have far too many agencies that operate without following any county policies whatsoever,' he said.

However, he said that in many ways, race relations in Madison County were "looking upward." He cited increasing minority enrollment and employment at Southern Illinois University at

County board OKs permit for bus garage

By Scott Cousins
Staff writer

A special use permit for the Madison County Transit District's proposed new bus garage was approved by the Madison County Board Wednesday.

Transit District Attorney Bill Beatty said the property, located next to the district's office in Pontoon Beach, is zoned residential.

The garage would house the district's fixed-route buses. District offices and the door-to-door bus service would remain where they are.

District officials said the new building is necessary because of the growth of transit district services.

When the original building was built in 1986, the district was using 26 van-sized vehicles to provide door-to-door services. Today, the district operates not only that service but also runs fixed routes using larger vehicles.

Transit District Manager Jerry Kane had said the present building is not designed to handle the number or type of vehicles now used by the district.

Kane said the new building is in the preliminary design phase and he hopes the building is completed by October 1997.

The district is also negotiating with the owner of adjoining property to provide construction and permanent access to the site.

In a related matter, County Board Chairman Rudy Papa presented Kane and Board Member Tony Paycin, who is also a member of the transit board, a plaque from the Governor's Pollution Prevention Award ceremony.

The transit district's RideFinders program was one of 23 businesses and community organizations recognized by Gov. Jim Edgar for their achievements in reducing hazardous wastes and toxic air emissions.

As he accepted the plaque, Kane said much of the credit for the transit district's achievements is due to the support of the county board.

In other county business, the board approved a low bid of $292,388.35 from Thiems Construction Co. of Edwardsville for the construction of a new parking lot on the west side of the Madison County jail. Also approved was a bid of $8,691 from Motorola for equipment to upgrade the 911 system.

'Distressed' city needs drastic changes, expert says

By Ellen Ellick
Staff writer

In a report that refers to St. Louis as "one of the most distressed large cities in America," two St. Louis University professors call for dramatic changes in the way the city governs itself.

George Wendel, who with Robert Croft wrote "The Governing of St. Louis: Design for the Future," refers to the city's current form of government as "antiquated and inefficient" and says a better government could be a first step to finding solutions to the city's problems.

"Otherwise the city's going down, down, down. Maybe it will anyway, but we've got to use whatever imagination we have to prevent that."

Wendel and Croft, both urban affairs experts, prepared their report for Mayor Freeman Bosley Jr.'s

Advisory Committee on City Government. The committee adopted most of the Wendel-Croft suggestions.

The suggestions include:

- eliminating the position of comptroller and turning it into one of three deputy mayor positions appointed by the mayor. There would be deputy mayors for finance, development and administration.
- turning seven elected positions into appointed positions. Those of treasurer, recorder of deeds, collector of revenue and license collector would be appointed by the mayor. The positions of public administrator, clerk of the circuit court and sheriff would be appointed by the judges of the circuit court.
- eliminating the Board of Estimate and Apportionment, the powerful three-member board that currently votes on all budgetary issues. Members are the mayor, the comptroller and the president of the board of aldermen. Instead, the mayor would develop the budget and the board of aldermen would have the power to increase as well as decrease the budget.
- creating the position of auditor, to be appointed by the president of the board of aldermen.

The Wendel-Croft report also suggests that the police department report to the mayor. The advisory committee did not adopt that suggestion.

Basically, the recommendations would create a more efficient government in which the mayor would have more power and more accountability, Wendel said.

The Journal asked Wendel several questions about the recommendations and also drew from the written report for responses.

Q. You paint a bleak picture for St. Louis. What are you seeing that leads to such pessimism?

A. The city lost 54 percent of its population between 1950 and 1990. The population has dropped another 7.1 percent over the past four years. Since 1978, the city's revenue (adjusted for inflation) has fallen by 23 percent. Its expenditures have dropped by 20 percent, and its total debt has risen by 308 percent. The city saw a net loss of 81,600 jobs between 1980 and 1993. The number of municipal employees has declined from 10,000 in 1978 to less than 5,000 in 1995. The city's median household income was $19,450 in 1990, half of the $38,127 median income in St. Louis County.

Q. But how could a change in city government turn any of that around?

A. It's a first step. This would give us a government that is more efficient, more focused, more coordinated. It will be a better guarantee that we get the best we can out of scarce resources. It doesn't guarantee that we'll be able to stop 5,000 a year from leaving the city. But it's a first step and, without it, we don't stand a chance.

Q. You talk about the need for city government to look and act more professional. What do you mean by that?

A. What is the perception of our city government?

A. One common complaint about city government here is that it's fragmented and hard to deal with. People will say that there are all these different departments operating separately and often not cooperating with each other. This was one reason for recommending that some elected officials should rather be appointed by the mayor. These departments would report to a deputy mayor who would have the power to bump heads and get something done.

After I-64 accident

Police capture escaped cattle

By Nicole Vaughn
Staff writer

Geno Feazel holds the title as the state's bull-riding champion but it's rare that such a distinction plays a major role in his work as a part-time Caseyville patrolman.

Instead of riding patrol in a squad car, Feazel spent all day Thursday and much of Friday riding horseback near Interstate 64, trying to capture runaway steers that escaped an overturned cattle trailer early Thursday.

"It was like a cattle drive in the middle of the city," Feazel said. "I just ride bulls. I don't rope but I got lucky and roped a few."

About six dozen steers took to the roadway after a truck driven by John R. Rose, 49, of Winchester, Ky., crashed on westbound Interstate 64 at Illinois 157 near Caseyville.

According to Illinois State Police, Rose was taken to Memorial Hospital in Belleville. He was treated and released.

A few hours after the trailer overturned, a motorist hit and killed one of the steers. Details of that accident were not available.

Woman dies after police car crash

ALTON — A mother is searching for answers after her daughter was fatally injured when a police officer apparently rushing to a crime scene ran a red light and crashed into her car.

Kathryn "Kathy" Ann Finn, 28, of Godfrey, died of severe injuries Tuesday at St. Louis University Hospital, where she was rushed after the crash at 12:25 a.m. Monday at Alby Street and Home Adams Parkway.

"The accident should never have happened," her mother, Rosalie Finn of Godfrey, said. "My daughter was an excellent driver. Now her life has ended. We deserve some answers from the Police Department. We want to know exactly what happened."

A 23-year-old police officer was driving west on Homer Adams with red lights and sirens operating when he struck a car driven by Finn, who was southbound on Alby Street, Police Chief Sylvester Jones said.

"The officer indicated he drove through a red light with his sirens and light flashing," the chief said.

The officer was apparently responding to an emergency broadcast for assistance from Madison County sheriff's deputies who were trailing a stolen vehicle in the Delmar Avenue area near Homer Adams, the chief said.

"We're trying to verify it report of the officer," Jones said.

The chief declined to name the officer, who remained in administrative leave with pending the completion of the investigation. After the accident, the officer was treated and released from St. Anthony's Hospital in Alton.

Finn, who was driving a 1988 gray Chevrolet by the impact of the crash.

She was rushed by ambulance through the rain to the St. Louis hospital because an ARCH emergency helicopter could not land at an Alton hospital due to stormy weather.

She died about 12:30 a.m. Tuesday with her mother, sisters and family beside her in the intensive care unit of the St. Louis hospital.

"Kathy was a loving, kind hearted person," her mother said. "If anyone needed help, she was always there."

Finn's sister, Regina Chappell, remembered her as a kind person who loved animals.

"Kathy was always donating cat and dog food to the SPCA animal shelter to help the pets," Chappell said. "Her sister had a deep faith in God, Chappell said."

"She's gone but we know she's in Heaven," she said.

Photos of girl, 14, lead to porn charge

A 19-year-old Meadowbrook man is facing a felony pornography charge after he was allegedly caught with lewd photographs of his 14-year-old girlfriend.

Prosecutors Wednesday charged Kenneth Fry, of the 600 block of Truman Street, with child pornography after a Bethalto police officer found several photos in Fry's vehicle during a traffic stop late Tuesday, authorities said.

Bethalto patrolman Craig Welch said he stopped Fry's vehicle after he noticed Fry was driving without a rear registration light.

The charge alleges Fry snapped photographs of the child in poses involving lewd exhibition of the unclothed genitals and pubic area.

Fry was also charged with a misdemeanor count of unlawful possession of drug paraphernalia after he gave authorities permission to search his vehicle.

Welch said officers discovered the photos in Fry's glove compartment while the vehicle was being secured for a tow. He said the case is under investigation.

Fry is accused of photographing the 14-year-old girl in Wood River in July.

He was being held in the Madison County Jail Wednesday in lieu of $100,000 bond.

Blood drive at church Sunday

Before your calendar fills up with activities, be sure to add giving blood at the Memorial Hospital Medical Explorers' Blood Drive.

The blood drive will be held from 1 to 5 p.m. Sunday at St. Albans the Greek Catholic Church, located at 15 E. Lincoln Highway in Fairview Heights.

Area blood supplies remain low. By donating now, you can make sure you are constantly available for hospital patients. All blood types are needed, but type O is particularly needed. Type O is the most common and is used in 52 percent of all surgeries. Since only 46 percent of the population has type O blood, donors are asked to give blood more frequently. If you don't know your blood type, you can find out by donating blood.

After the drive, Red Cross will send you a card naming your blood type. This card will list the number of times you have given blood in the past and will expedite future donations.

For more information about the Memorial Hospital Medical Explorers' Blood Drive or other drives in your area, call the American Red Cross at 1-800-GIVE-LIFE.

Home tour in Collinsville

By Nicole Vaughn
Staff writer

Pieces of Collinsville's history have been put back into place. And the Miner's Institute Foundation will highlight those pieces in this year's Historic Homes and Sites Tour.

The tour will take place from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. Sunday, Sept. 29.

"This year's tour will be quite memorable," said Julie Netemeyer, the tour's chairman. "These homes were picked because of the work that has been done to them to restore these structures to their original ambience."

The sites include homes at 315 E. Church St., 501 E. Wickliffe, 424 Vandalia, 907 N. Morrison and 412 Merrill and one business, ABC Framing and Gifts, at 106 E. Main.

The Miner's Theater, 204 W. Main, which has undergone some changes of its own in the past year, will be one of the year's sites. And one of the places in town where the history of many of these other buildings has been carefully documented over the years will also be open for visitors.

THE VOICE BOX:

How do you rate the Granite City Fire Department on a scale from one to ten?

By SHIRLEY VALENCIA

Margie Mayes, Granite City
"I would give them a ten. They are very efficient and always willing to help."

Tom Candler, Granite City
"I feel we have a fire department second to none — ten."

Mike Davis, Granite City
"Our fire department is great — ten."

Robin Seago, Granite City
"I give them a ten. They helped me out when I needed them."

Shirley Bushong, Granite City
"I think they are great. They even came out to help get my granddaughter out of a doll house. She was stuck in the window — my daughter was terrified. It was one of those freak accidents, and they were great."

Meet the New Doctors in Town

Gerald H. Bemis, D.C.

Dr. Bemis graduated Magna cum Laude from Palmer College of Chiropractic in 1973 and has practiced in Alton since. He was an instructor at Palmer College from 1971-1973 and is past president of Illinois Chiropractic Association. His family has practiced chiropractic since 1915, his father and grandfather both being chiropractors. His post-grad education includes extensive study in X-ray and Orthopedics and he is certified in Rehabilitation and Impairment Rating.

Stephanie M. Buhs, D.C.

Dr. Buhs graduated from Palmer College of Chiropractic in 1985 and has practiced with Dr. Bemis since. While at Palmer she was awarded numerous scholarships and was appointed to the student teaching program in the Technique department. Her post-grad education includes study in Pediatrics and she has Impairment Rating certification. She is on the board of the Tri-Cities Chamber of Commerce, and she and Dr. Bemis are members of the International Chiropractors Association.

Both doctors have general healthcare practices as well as specialize in the accurate diagnosis and effective treatment of auto, work, sports and other accidents, using the newest high tech equipment in x-ray and electronic motion and strength testing.

State of the Art Techniques Combined With Old Fashioned TLC

Walkers to fight juvenile diabetes

By Kevin Carbery Staff writer

Helping the Juvenile Diabetes Foundation can be as easy as a walk in the park. About 2,000 people are expected to take part in the 10th annual "Walk for the Cure" fund-raising event on behalf of the foundation. The walk is scheduled for 10 a.m. Sept. 29 in Forest Park.

The event is not a race, but a relaxed walk on a 3.1-mile circular course that begins and ends at the lower Muny parking lot. Walkers will pass by the St. Louis Zoo and the St. Louis Art Museum.

After the walk, a Children's Corner will feature a Clydesdale horse from Grant's Farm, dogs from Whiskers & Wags, games and exhibits from the Magic House and the St. Louis Science Center. The band Galaxy will entertain the crowd.

This is the kind of thing where the entire family can participate together," said Fran Kern, executive director of the foundation's St. Louis chapter. "We have a lot of fun things planned for the kids. After the walk, Little Caesars will have pizza and Pepsi will have soda. During the walk, we have checkpoints where companies will give out freebies from corporations and businesses."

Kern said her organization hopes to raise $200,000 from the event. "Walkers solicit a pledge just based on their participation, not on how far they walk," she said. "People can sign up on the day of the event. We have corporate participation."

Waste Management, Anheuser-Busch, Magna Bank, Emerson Electric, Andersen Consulting and Boatmen's Bank are among the corporate supporters of the event.

For more information about the event or the JDF, call the St. Louis Chapter office in Clayton at 726-6778.

New focus for local radio station

WINU pledges efforts to cover news and sports in metro east

By Nicole Vaughn
Staff writer

Community and business leaders from all over Madison and St. Clair counties met in Collinsville Wednesday morning to announce the birth of a new format at an old radio station.

In a gathering at Gateway Center, Tom Tucker unveiled a new format that began Wednesday at radio station WINU 880 AM. Tucker is the former general manager of WIBV radio, which had been in his hometown of Belleville.

"Illinois communities have been abandoned by radio stations that have been lured to St. Louis," Tucker said. "We have a problem in Illinois, being under the umbrella of the St. Louis market. As a result, we get treated as second-class citizens."

Tucker is programming the station's format to focus efforts on reporting Illinois news, community events, and sports, including broadcasts of Bears, Bulls, Cubs, White Sox, McKendree College and Illinois State University games as well as local high school sports.

"If you like what we're doing, please tell your friends," said Tucker's partner, Carl Ortale of Carterville. "If you don't like what we're doing, please tell us."

Tucker brought along several of his former WIBV staffers to his new station. The include producer Jim Heil of Belleville, PGA professional Dan Polites of O'Fallon, Joe May of Belleville, Dave Ballone and Melody Rachels. Among celebrity talk shows the station will run is G.

Gordon Liddy, convicted watergate burglar, and Republican campaign advisor Mary Malinin, wife of Clinton campaign advisor, James Carville.

Tucker said that Liddy's show was one of the most requested by listeners.

That's apparently true. State Rep. Tom Holbrook, D-Belleville, who attended the conference, said that he had tuned in to WINU on his way to Collinsville.

Holbrook said he caught part of Liddy's show where the discussion topic was the new dance craze, the Macarena. "I hope he sticks with the Macarena," Holbrook said.

"Illinois communities have been abandoned by radio stations that have been lured to St. Louis. We have a problem in Illinois, being under the umbrella of the St. Louis market."

Sometimes time doesn't heal all wounds...

Memorial's Wound Care and Limb Preservation Clinic can help.

Memorial's Wound Care and Limb Preservation Clinic specializes in caring for people with chronic, non-healing wounds of the legs—a significant health problem in the United States.

Among the most common problems treated in the Wound Care and Limb Preservation Clinic are:

- Venous Stasis Ulcers - from weakness in the vein walls on the lower leg.
- Diabetic Ulcers - from poor blood flow and nerve damage in the legs and feet caused by diabetes.
- Leg Ulcer - from narrowing of the arteries causing reduced blood flow in legs.

Services offered

The Wound Care and Limb Preservation Clinic team is specially trained in:

- Wound Evaluation
- Wound Treatment
- Education and Prevention

Vascular and plastic surgeons evaluate your wound and formulate an individualized treatment plan. Other physician specialists are consulted as necessary. Fees are charged according to the extent of services received.

For an appointment

Call Memorial's Marsh Cardiovascular Unit at (618) 257-5036. The Wound Care and Limb Preservation Clinic is held on Tuesdays from 8 a.m. to noon in Memorial's Physical Therapy Department.

Reputation key in choosing home contractors

You'll recall the three rules in buying a house: "Location, location, location."

The criteria for hiring a contractor are remarkably similar, says Jack Beddingfield, a specialist who conducts do-it-yourself clinics for Builders Square, the home improvement-home decor chain.

The three rules are "reputation, reputation, reputation," he says.

says. "Don't be afraid to ask for references," he says. "Then check them out. Too many people ask for references, then don't follow through. Go to a job the contractor is currently working on; check it out."

Beddingfield says past clients should be glad to tell you if he did a good job; they'll also be glad to tell you if he did a bad one.

If a contractor hesitates when asked for references, Beddingfield advises leaving him alone. Reputable contractors usually are happy to comply.

The size of the firm has nothing to do with how good it is if it passes the references check.

He suggests making sure certain standards be included in a written contract that details the work to be done. These might written contract that details the work to be done. These might be the proportion of sand and cement in a slab-pouring job; the size of reinforced rods used in the slab (one-half inch is standard); use of heavy black plastic on the ground to keep water from seeping through concrete and beading on the floor; the thickness of the slab (the average is 18 inches).

How do you find a contractor in the first place? Beddingfield suggests checking bulletin boards that many supply houses keep. Ask your friends who've had work done for them. Ask other contractors who will be doing other types of work; they generally know each other by reputation. Check the Yellow Pages;

don't worry about making an off-the-wall judgment because you'll be checking references anyway.

The way a contractor agrees to payment also affects his reputation, Beddingfield says.

Expect to pay him on an agreed schedule, especially if you have contracted for a complete home to your specifications.

Horoscope

Wednesday, Sept. 25
The moon transits into Pisces. Which road to take is the burning question of the day, and the answer is found through introspection.
Also, asking someone dear to you what he or she honestly thinks of your recent life choices brings brilliant insight and the energy to go forward. The Libra sun is opening your mind, allowing you to see both sides of the story.

ARIES (March 21-April 19). Research and careful planning lead to a sound financial investment. Avoid spending money that isn't in your bank account.
Neighbors prove to be friendly and do you a favor.
A partner appreciates your quick thinking.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20). Set straight a misunderstanding with a loved one and an evening of romance lies ahead. Old friends take an interest in your work. Take inventory or organize documents.
Extra hours on the job will pay off later.

GEMINI (May 21-June 21). A younger acquaintance turns to you for advice on career matters. A conservative approach to business saves you money. Teach a colleague a special skill.
Declare your true feelings for the lover in your life.

CANCER (June 22-July 22). A newfound job and financial security put a dream within reach. Ignore a friend's superstition
regarding an important step in your life. Beautify your home. Family members look at you with pride and love.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22). A return home leads to inspiration and a huge career move. Expose an injustice to the world. Your sympathy and sense of humor make your point of view valuable. Count on your family or your lover for undying support.

TODAY'S BIRTHDAY
(Sept. 25). Develop strategies in October.
Raises or promotions will result in November or January. Your love life picks up in November with a new Aquarius or Taurus lover. Monetary deals made in the next month are likely to bring in windfalls by the end of the year. The luckiest times are in December and April. The best signs for love in 1997 are Taurus and Sagittarius.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22).
Positive thinking helps you through a trying situation.
Confront your fear of rejection — you'll find that it is unfounded. Lend a sympathetic ear to your lover and you'll grow closer. You have luck in money matters today.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23).
Patch up a quarrel with your closest friend this afternoon. A loved one intervenes on your behalf.
A shrewd business deal puts you on top of the world. An employer is captivated by your charm.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 21). You entrance an audience with showmanship and poise. However, only sheer stubbornness keeps you climbing. Confront and defeat an age-old fear. A partner remains understanding during one of your bluest moods.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21). Honesty saves a relationship on the verge of catastrophe. An employer helps alleviate a financial strain. Work overtime on the job to pay off bills. Your favorite hero somehow imparts moral support.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19). Being in love makes you float through the day. Approach your job with humor and sensitivity.
You can adjust to a change of roommates or residence with surprising ease.
Budget your time wisely to allow for relaxation.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18). Study independently on a topic of interest. Expand your focus, and keep up old abilities. Change financial arrangements for convenience and efficiency.
Your lover makes you feel more desirable than ever.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20). Dig deep within yourself and you'll find the strength and willpower you need. Fall in love with your lover's entire family.
Maintain old ties of friendship. Repay a loan.

'Wife' could be The Worst flick

Worthy contenders in the Worst Movie of the Year sweepstakes, and Hollywood Pictures' "The Rich Man's Wife" rates as a 2-1 entry.

Supposedly a sexy excursion in murder and double-cross, the movie amounts to little more than a laughable flop.

"The Rich Man's Wife" was written by Amy Holden Jones, who wrote the wonderful "Mystic Pizza." Then again, she also made her directorial debut with "Slumber Party Massacre" and wrote the unbelievable screenplay for "Indecent Proposal."

The movie opens as a flashback. Beautiful Josie Potenza (Halle Berry) sits in a police station, waives all her rights to silence and having an attorney (get real) and announces she wants "to tell the truth." How cute. So she tells us the story of how her wealthy, alcoholic, beer-belly husband Tony gets murdered.

On the surface, Josie appears to lead a wonderful life. Tony (Christopher McDonald) is a slave to his work at a TV studio — and he's a womanizer.

Josie, meanwhile, is having an affair with a British restaurateur, Jake (Clive Owen), in whose business Tony has invested. But Josie won't leave him because she signed a prenuptial agreement in which she gets nothing if she leaves Tony.

But Josie is a plucky gal. She decides to forgive Tony, try to make things better, and stick it out.

Tony, in his own sloppy way, also loves Josie. She persuades him to go away to the mountains with her for an intimate vacation. It all falls apart when Tony decides to rush back to his office. Josie, forlorn and angry, heads for the nearest bar where she meets a psycho named Cole (Peter Greene).

Against all good judgment, she agrees to have dinner with him and winds up telling him about her husband. Cole suggests that she hire him to kill Tony; Josie panics and demands that he drive her home. The ride is a trip through hell as Cole turns off his headlights and speeds along a curvy mountain road. Once home, he tries to rape Josie and she pulls a gun on him, nicking him in the cheek.

Bad move. Cole murders Tony. He then visits Josie demanding $30,000 or else he'll go to the police and tell them that she had hired him. Josie goes along with the demand and takes Jake into her confidence.

There's an ending that's supposed to be a surprise. But you can smell it a mile away. "The Rich Man's Wife" was produced by Roger Birnbaum and Julie Bergman Sender, with Jennifer Ogden as executive producer.

Some still great after all these years

By Kevin Carbery
Staff writer

Every now and then, you wander into a situation that actually turns out to be better than you had hoped.

After a recent Mizou football game in Columbia, my friends wanted to go to a college bar for a Retro Night. These kinds of promotions usually mean nothing but '70s disco music, which generally makes me sick.

However, much to my surprise and delight, the music featured at the Blue Note nightclub was mainly from the '80s, with a few selections from the late '70s. It was a blast hearing the music I used to enjoy when I was in high school and college and seeing the jammed house of current college students also having a great time dancing and listening to it.

My friends and I still get into many songs from that time period. Songs such as "Bilster in the Sun" by the Violent Femmes, "Rock the Casbah" by The Clash, "One Thing Leads to Another" by The Fixx and "Love My Way" by the Psychedelic Furs sound good to us and, if the kids at Retro Night are any indication, then that era's rock continues to be well-received.

Elvis Costello, The Police, U2, Tom Petty, Blondie and the B-52s are some other performers who have worn well over time.

But while all of these recording artists I've mentioned are tops with my group of friends, they do not hold the sway over us that one other band from the time had.

You see, even in our college days, my friends and I never were particularly thrilled about dancing. We liked to go to the clubs to hear the music, survey the dance floor and soak in the atmosphere, but we rarely asked anyone to dance.

Except for when The Song came on.

When we'd hear "Don't Change," by INXS, even we nerds would seek out some girls and ask them to dance.

1. Courtney Cox, now a star on "Friends," appeared in a music video by which rock superstar in 1984?

2. What was the name of the one Billboard top-10 hit by A Flock of Seagulls?

3. What are the names of the two people who performed as the Eurythmics?

4. Which rock superstar sang backup on The Call's song "Everywhere I Go"?

5. Shane MacGowan was the lead singer of which rock group that made a name for itself in the mid-1980s?

6. "What I Like About You" came from which rock group?

7. Which rock singer played Buddy Holly in the film "La Bamba"?

8. What was the only Talking Heads song to become a Billboard top-10 hit?

9. "Two Hearts Beat as One" and "Stories for Boys" were two great songs put out by which band?

10. Brothers Tim, Andy and Jon Farriss helped form which rock band?

ANSWERS: 1. Bruce Springsteen; 2. "Don't Change"; 3. The Police; 4. David Byrne; 5. The Boomtown Rats; 6. "Rhythm Nation" (1984); 7. The Police; 8. "I Wanna Dance with Somebody" (1984); 9. "I Wanna Dance with Somebody" (1984); 10. The New Power Generation.

No, we don't claim to have all the answers. We're just a group of people like you who've discovered that the search for those answers is a lot easier when we depend on each other and God.

Horse sense, not sainthood for Shannon

I have a friend who blames virtually every outcome he disagrees with on the media. Guess I should put quotation marks around the word "media" because said friend uses the word to refer to any and all persons related to newspaper, radio or television. Thus, the media gets the blame for Clinton being president, O.J. Simpson being a free man and for golfer Tiger Woods being a hero. Take any side you want, and the media is to blame.

No wonder, then, I was proud at the start of the current high school football season for avoiding the canonization of Rob Shannon in his first season as the head football coach at Alton High.

Even before the team's 54-13 season-opening loss to Althoff, TV cameras and reporters were prepared to follow Shannon's every move as if he were the reincarnation of Vince Lombardi.

Not only did Althoff spoil the return of the man who had 195 wins and six state titles in 19 years at East St. Louis Senior High, Edwardsville added a 56-7 thumping of the Redbirds two weeks later.

Sure, Alton matched its victory total of a 1-8 record of '95 with a 26-8 win over Quincy in its second game of the season, but after three games, the Redbirds had permitted over 1,000 rushing yards.

And, sure, by season's end Alton might well do more than multiply its win total. After playing a winless Belleville West team Friday, the Redbirds could look to opponents that have struggled — other than Shannon's former team.

After West, which was 2-7 in 1995, the four teams ahead for Alton prior to East Side had a combined record of 14-21 a year ago. Of those — Lincoln, Collinsville, Granite City and Belleville East — only Lincoln had a winning record in '95 at 5-3, but this season the Tigers were 0-3 prior to playing Granite City.

If the Redbirds take a winning record into their regular-season finale Friday, Oct. 25 against East St. Louis, Shannon, no doubt, will have the title of Saint.

Meanwhile, should Alton show signs of success, my friend will tell you Alton has always had good athletes, and Shannon just happened to be in the right place at the right time.

After Edwardsville fullback Collin Gardiner reeled up 233 yards rushing and six touchdowns and all-state quarterback Jim Dougherty also handed off to tailback Craig Mayfield for an additional 174 yards, this corner of the media pretors to keep things in perspective regarding Shannon.

Long ago I heard the expression: "You cannot win a horse race without a horse."

Prior to jumping ship early last season, Shannon enjoyed a succession of horsey wonder East Side no differently than his predecessors, including coaches Wirt Downing and Fred Cameron.

Should some media members continue to push for sainthood for Shannon, my hope is he is as humble as men like Downing and Cameron and shows some horse sense.

OVERTIME: Should Shannon not turn things around in a year or two or three at Alton, one can only wonder what effect that would have on his popularity as a motivational speaker.

His words, incidentally, have not been forgotten in Collinsville.

Prior to the season while appraising the Alton program, Shannon was quoted as saying: "The Collinsville beat them last year. That doesn't bode well for the program."

Bugger boots Edwardsville past Warriors

By Rob Raphael
Staff writer

There probably aren't many teams on the Illinois side of the river that can say they win two of every three games they play with the Granite City Warriors.

But after Thursday night, that's exactly what the Edwardsville Tigers can boast. In just the third meeting between the two soccer teams in well over 10 years, Edwardsville defeated Granite City for the second straight time, 2-1, in a Southwestern Conference match that kept Granite City in the conference cellar.

Last season, in the sectional finals, the Tigers defeated the Warriors by using their skill and finesse. The same couldn't be said this time around.

Although the two goals the Tigers scored were legitimate, they beat the Warriors by using rough tactics to keep them off balance. And it worked.

Granite City sits in a very unfamiliar position at 0-3 in the SWC and 3-32 overall. Edwardsville improved to 4-2-3 overall and 3-1 in the conference.

"This is a game, during the season, and we look forward to the end of the season," said Tigers coach Mark Schwarzkopf. "I was really proud of the team tonight."

"To win is great, obviously, but just the competitive environment is something we desire, and this was (that). I actually thought the dimensions of the field would bother us more, because we're accus-

Tigers, GCHS make for rare match

By Rob Raphael
Staff writer

It had been over 10 years since the Granite City and Edwardsville soccer teams dropped each other from their respective schedules.

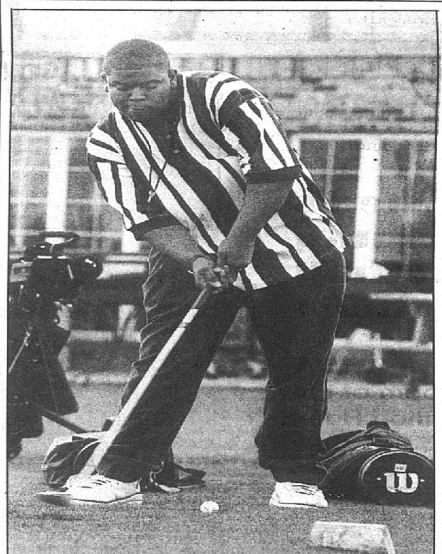

Entering Thursday night's game at the Gauntlet, the two teams had split two postseason games in the past five years. After the Warriors defeated the Tigers in a sectional game three years ago, the teams met again in the sectional final last year. The Tigers prevailed and went on to earn a berth in the state tournament.

With Edwardsville joining the Southwestern Conference this season, the two teams began another era Thursday with their first-ever conference match.

A total of 54 fouls were called in the 80-minute game, which leaves little time for play to flow. Of those, 31 were called against the Tigers, who edged the Warriors 2-1.

"I really have very little to say positively about the game," said a frustrated GCHS coach Gene Baker. "But you look at Tuesday's game at CBC, where there were only 11 fouls called in that entire match, the difference between Illinois and Missouri is amazing."

Baker declined to comment. (See GCHS, Page 4B)

Trojans' golf program breaking new ground

By Rob Raphael
Staff writer

Finally, it looks like sports is making a comeback as an extra-curricular activity at Madison High School.

And it looks like the sport that was chosen to begin this comeback — golf — is a rousing success.

Just ask Barb Cox, who was given what might seem to be the tough task of building a golf program from scratch. Cox is thrilled with the number of students who came out for the sport, and equally impressed with their demeanor.

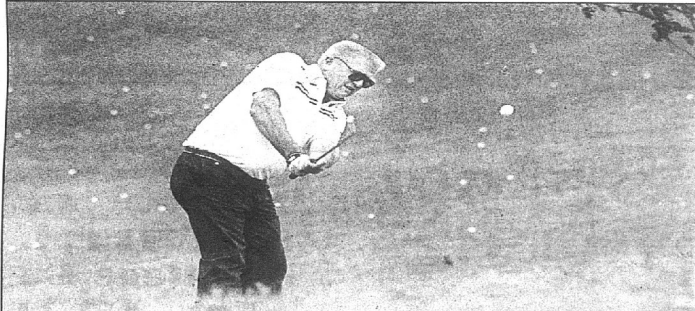

"We have a full boys roster and we already have five girls on the team," Cox said last week. "And every day we pick up one or two more. Plus, we know of still others that are interested."

Some of the others would have already been out, but have not completed their physicals or releases yet. But with 19 out for the golf team and the ability to field both a complete boys and girls team, there's no longer a question as to whether this program will be a success.

The Madison School District was able to tap money set up in a contingency fund, established for the sole purpose of re-establishing sports programs that the district was forced to drop during the past few years.

The board had several discussions on the matter, as (See GOLF, Page 3B)

Former Cardinals manager Whitey Herzog will be shooting to help put a youth golf learning center on its feet when he holds the Whitey Herzog Tournament on Oct. 2 at the Grand Marais Golf Club in Centerville. Openings remain in the 30-team field. For more information, call Mike Murphy at Grand Marais, 398-9999.

Herzog tourney targets area youth

By Dennis Barnidge
Staff writer

In the wide — and growing wider all the time — world of celebrity benefit golf outings, Whitey Herzog can pretty much take his pick to attach his still-considerable name to.

Every disease this side of sniffles has a benefit. Every cause worth mentioning holds a gathering. Every school, organization, group, coven and cabal tosses a tournament. The glitzy ones take a turn around a country club with celebrities at the wheel. The smaller ones hack it around the local public track with the chamber of commerce on the makeshift.

Herzog, after ruling St. Louis baseball for more than a decade, has the pull to play the country clubs at the head of the celebrity pack. So what's he doing drawing a crowd at a public course at the intersection of three distinctly non-glitzy neighborhoods, Centerville, East St. Louis and Washington Park?

Mike Murphy, who's done much of the organizational legwork for the Whitey Herzog Foundation's tournament since 1981, says Herzog comes to the Oct. 2 Herzog Tournament at Grand Marais Golf Course with the same focus he's brought to the foundation's previous events.

"The things that were done in Festus (Mo.) and the things that will be done here are for people," says Murphy, who made stops at Sunset Country Club, Quail Creek Golf Course and Tapawingo National Golf Club before taking on the PGA pro post and renovation job at Grand Marais three years ago. "We've tried to have programs that kids can participate in."

The Oct. 2 event will tee off at 11 a.m. Each five-man team will include a celebrity and a PGA professional. The $150 cost covers a continental breakfast, golf, refreshments and a post-event awards presentation and auction. To register or for information, call Murphy at (See TOURNEY, Page 3B)

Flyers' Lee fills key role in backfield

By Rob Raphael
Staff writer

The East St. Louis Flyers' offense is still in the formative stages after three weeks of play, but it has found a key ingredient in tailback Marcus Lee.

Lee, 16, is a junior back for the Flyers. And although the team has yet to find its offensive stride, Lee has found his.

He helped the Flyers (3-0) score a season-high 29 points last week against East St. Louis Lincoln by rushing for a spectacular 141-yard touchdown. In doing so, Lee has been named the Illinois Journal-News Cardinal Club Athlete of the Week.

Athlete of the Week

"You couldn't have picked a better one," said East Side coach Terry Hill. "Marcus is as nice a kid as you could want, and he's got his head on straight."

Hill said he knows he needs to get the ball into Lee's hands as often as possible, and the day will come when Lee plays on nearly every down.

"He's still learning," Hill said. "When he gets to where he can run his blocks properly, he'll be even better. Eventually, I hope to use him a lot more."

That's bad news for opposing defenses.

Lee was dazzling last week, as he ran around, over and through opposing defenses on his way to 86 yards and two touchdowns on just eight carries. (See LEE, Page 3B)

•Lee

ries. "I feel like I've played OK so far," Lee said. "But I know I can get a lot better. I need to work on hitting the holes quicker and harder, and just doing the work I need to do."

"I appreciate the chance Coach Hill has given me, and I want to help our team win." Besides his big day in the backfield last week, Lee has also scored twice on kick returns. In the Flyers' opening-week win against Chicago Simeon, Lee scored the only points of the game when he returned the second-half kickoff 96 yards.

In the Flyers' 12-6 win over Summer two weeks ago, Lee was again the difference, as he returned a punt 55 yards to put East Side up 6-0.

"When you have blockers like I do, you can run well," Lee said. "They've been doing a great job on offense and special teams, and I give them all the credit. I feel fortunate to have them playing in front of me."

Lee has been playing football since he was 9 years old, and he said he's spent most of that time at running back. "I've played a little defensive back, and some tackle, but I've always liked running with the ball," he said.

And he hopes that trend continues. Lee said he's looking forward to playing college ball after next season.

"But my grades are important, and I'm still working on those," he said. "I still have a lot of work to do before I could do that, but that's my goal."

Lee said he thinks the Flyers can go far this year. He believes they can make the playoffs, and after that, anything can happen. Still, he knows his team has to take games one at a time. On Friday, the Flyers were scheduled to play Edwardsville in a key Southwestern Conference game.

"I knew we'd have a good team, but I never thought we'd be 3-0," Lee said. "That shows that we're able to exceed expectations."

That's something Lee is proving, himself.

members tried to discover which sports would be the most popular but still affordable.

"I talked to the board about the feasibility of golf as a sport the district should at least consider," Cox said. "It worked out, and now I think everyone would agree that it's been a big hit."

The Trojans' golf team will compete only on the junior varsity level this year. Cox said it is hoped the move to varsity can be made next year.

But that puts Madison in a group of several schools that have discovered the sport recently. The Trojans recently played a competitive match with Lincoln, and were scheduled to play Duplo and Althoff last week.

"We kind of have to schedule the matches one at a time," Cox said. "That's just kind of the way it works at this stage."

There will also be no regional action for Madison this year.

We're starting from scratch, and we're just trying to build up our skills at this point," Cox said. "We've only been hitting the ball for two weeks."

Cox is being assisted by Hazel Davis at Madison, and the two have a good group of students and individuals.

"There's been just a couple of minor incidents," Cox said. "And those who usually resulted in apologies. So we're real happy with the attitude of the students, as well as their behavior. We feel like this program gives students the chance to try a very enjoyable and challenging game, and (it) also gives them something to do after school."

"I think the more we give the students reason to stay at school, the better. But I believe the kids can definitely benefit from golf. It's a great sport."

The Madison golf team currently consists of 12 members: Clyde Ashford (boys captain), Andre Darden, Kandise Salmond, LeTaurian Hardin, Fred Hatcher, Jamon Haynes, Tarick Lawrence, Anthony P. Miller, Michael Quarles, Derek Reeves, Larry Scott and Aaron Stafford.

The Lady Trojans' squad includes Kenyola Johnson (girls captain), Amanda Bailey, Laronda Brookfield, Alaina Long, Deonna Madison, Marquita Tyler and Kandise Salmond.

Of course, any program needs equipment. Cox recently purchased some new equipment, which will supplement donations by several sources, including Cox's league, the Roseland Ladies' League in Alton. The custodians at Madison High School also donated several clubs. The team practices and plays its home matches at the Legacy Golf Course in Granite City.

"The school board has been great about everything, and we've received a lot of support from the community," Cox said. "Basically, everything we need is being provided for us, and I know the kids are thankful for that. They're showing that in many ways. Their attitude has been wonderful."

Cox, who among other things is the media specialist and National Honor Society sponsor at MMS, also started the basketball program at Madison Middle School several years ago. She said she knows the school board wants to see its money well spent.

"I'd like to see more sports come back to Madison, but it won't happen overnight," she said. "But I think they've chosen a winner in golf."

398-9999. "It's no accident," Murphy says, that Herzog is willing to give his time, name and support to youth programs aimed somewhat at the fringe of the good life. Herzog, who grew up in nearby New Athens, hardly came from a country club background where the kid down the street had a trust fund.

"He's never forgotten where he came from," Murphy said. "The Herzog Foundation was, for seven years, the mover and shaker behind the push to construct a YMCA in Jefferson County. Murphy doesn't claim every brick in the full-service YMCA building at Festus for Herzog, but he says the White Rat did more than his share to draw attention to the project.

In return for the effort, Herzog received satisfaction rather than an honorarium. "The man has never taken a penny for any of this. You know what he's got? He has an honorary membership at Quail (where the tournament drew huge crowds of fans during a golf. Murphy says the center indeed will provide golf instruction, but it also will place participants in part-time jobs at Grand Marais and other area operations.

"Not only will the kids who take part in it be exposed to golf, but they'll be exposed to work," Murphy said.

In the invitation to tournament booster Herzog says, "We will teach them the requirements of work life — to get to work on time and give good value for the time spent at work and to take pride in their work."

A "Bought into" Herzog's idea of pride in work, the Cardinals of the 1980s, will help their former manager kick off his first big-time tournament in several years.

"We're going to have the celebrity list. We'll use it to be," Murphy said.

That means attracting key players from the Herzog teams as well as top names in football, basketball and golf.

The primary attraction, of course, is Herzog, but it's hard to turn up your nose at a celebrity list that includes Stan Musial, football hall of famer Jackie Smith and Missouri and St. Louis University hoops coaches Norm Stewart and Charlie Spoonhour and his business heavyweights Mike Roarty, long of Anheuser-Busch, and former St. Louis County Executive H. Milford as co-chairmen.

"We're going to bring this back to the kids. It's to be used to be at," Murphy says.

At the Jefferson County YMCA, they'll tell you that is a level that kids take off the street and put them into the ballgame.

Herzog wouldn't have it any other way.

Ex-Cardinals, PGA pros to highlight tourney lineup

By Dennis Barnidge

Staff writer

Hump day may never be this good again.

The Wednesday, Oct. 2 White Herzog Tournament at Grand Marais Golf Course at Frank Holten State Park in Centerville will draw a lineup of players from the Cardinals pennant winners of the 1980s as well as top coaches and former major league baseball and football stars.

The event, which will benefit the planned youth golf learning center for Metro East, will have an 11 a.m. shotgun start. The scramble tourney will include a celebrity and a PGA pro in each five-hole. The cost is $150. For information on participating or hole sponsorship, call Mike Murphy at Grand Marais, 398-9999.

Following the day's golf, there will be a silent auction featuring items donated by celebrities such as Gary Player, Stan Musial, Ozzie Smith, George Brett and Gene Stallings.

The playing celebrity list is being on members of Herzog's team in the 1980s. Among the former players expected at the event are Vince Coleman, Danny Cox, Scott T. Scott, Terry, Bob Forsch, Darrell Porter, Greg Mathews, Tom Lawless, Jose Oquendo, Tim Lincecum, Ken Reitz, Joe Hackler. Also expected to take part are former players Ted Savage, Ken Reitz, Joe Hackler, and Joe Cunningham.

Football hall of famer Jackie Smith and former Big Red greats Jim Hart and Charlie McMillan will take part in the event, as will former Mizou and Sar Transcendence standout Eric Wright. From basketball, Missouri coach Norm Stewart has a tee time and St. Louis University coach Charlie Spoonhour will chip in. From golf, the event will draw a long list of players from the PGA Gateway Section.

And sharing the spotlight at the Oct. 2 event with Herzog will be the biggest name in the lineup, Musial.

directly on the officiating, but EHS coach Mark Schwarzkopf — although cautious — had to say something.

"I can say this," he said. "I'm sure I would likely be in agreement with Gene that neither myself or himself would rate approval with the officiating out there. That's something you have to deal with, and so be it. I really don't like to influence it. I don't think that's proper."

"But sometimes when it gets so frustrating, you just have to speak out."

"I can't say I'm happy with it, but you have to rise above that," Baker said. "We've risen above it before."

Still, the Tigers did the job, and dropped the Warriors to 0-3 in the conference.

Baker said he's not overly concerned with the team's mark thus far, because he knew the Warriors would take some lumps before putting their game together.

Baker said the loss to Edwardsville doesn't change much about this weekend's action, "except physically. We're beat up."

Granite City traveled to Kansas City on Friday afternoon for perhaps its biggest test of the year. The Warriors' opponent, St. Thomas Aquinas, was the No. 1-ranked team in the country last week. They aren't just beating people, they're destroying teams by eight, 10 and even 15 goals.

The Warriors were scheduled to follow up today with a match against Kansas City Rockhurst, also one of the better teams in Missouri. And Monday, the Warriors begin pool play in the Hazelwood Central Tournament at the Gauntlet. GCHS faces Troy at 6 p.m. Monday, Parkway South at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday and Howell North at 7:30 Wednesday.

If the Warriors manage to advance out of their pool, they'll play in the semifinals at 6 p.m. Friday at Koch Park in Florissant.

In other notes, the Warriors' 24x36 storage area is taking shape just south of the Gauntlet. That area, built with funds donated by the Granite City Elks, will provide space sorely needed for the storage of soccer equipment.

Also on Thursday, the Gauntlet's new Alumni Seating section was opened for the first time. Warrior alumni now have their own seating, in prime territory near the east goal.

It's Mother Nature's Perfect Planting Time!

by the experts at

FRANK'S NURSERY & CRAFTS

Where Beautiful Things Begin

Finally, upon us, officially, anyway. And with it comes the best conditions of the year for planting. Yes, you've heard that before, from us and any other knowledgeable gardeners. Fall is the best time to plant.

Okay, you've probably accepted that, but have you ever wondered about it? You may be thinking that spring would be better. After all, why plant something at the end of the gardening season? A tree planted in spring has a whole season to get going.

That's a good point and we'll explain it. When planted in the fall, the roots of woody plants will continue to grow until the ground is completely frozen. And that usually gives it two or three months. The tops of the plants may get nipped by the cold along the way, but the roots will keep on growing.

Now, here's the big advantage of fall planting. The plant doesn't have to deal with hot, dry weather right away. A new tree, with fewer roots than the elders, has a tougher time finding water. Naturally, the cooler it is outside, the less stress for the plant. The plants simply won't lose as much water as they would in the middle of the summer.

Cooler nights will become commonplace in the next few weeks, as we're noticing a definite difference in the amount of daylight. All this adds up to nearly perfect planting conditions.

The end result of this situation is a tree or shrub that will be more established and better equipped to deal with hot weather when next summer rolls around.

Fall's also a good time for planting lawns, so if you've been contemplating putting in a new one or patching up the old, it's time to get going. Newly planted grass likes the grand conditions of fall just as much as trees and shrubs do.

Transplanting's another project that goes hand in hand with fall. Give your landscape a good look-over and if a shrub or tree would be better suited to another area, go for it. This is the ideal time to get these activities done.

Green Tomatoes, Anyone?

Have any green tomatoes amidst the red ones? If so, harvest them! Green tomatoes that are glossy and about three quarters of their full size are called mature green tomatoes. Slice open one. The gel in the seed cavity is thick and seeds slide off easily with a knife.

Tomatoes picked at this time will ripen indoors. Not the smaller ones, though, they'll rot if kept for any length of time. Green tomatoes bruise very easily, so handle with care. Store them in a single layer at 55°F to 70°F, and away from a source of bright light.

You can speed up the ripening process by manipulating the storage temperature, the warmer it is, the faster they'll ripen. Why go to all this trouble? Well, you'll still be enjoying garden-fresh tomatoes while everybody else will have to settle for store-bought.

Lawn Care

If your lawn hasn't been fed yet, there's no need to wait any longer. Feeding with Fall Lawn Food is very important, since it helps your lawn endure the harsh winter and gives it a strong start next spring.

If you applied Weed & Feed recently, though, wait until mid-October or so before applying Fall Lawn Food.

Birth

Rebecca SloverEric and Valerie Slover of Edwardsville announced the birth of their first child, a daughter. Rebecca Lynn Slover was born at 2:26 p.m. July 31, 1996, at Barnes-Jewish Hospital in St. Louis and weighed 5 pounds, 10 ounces. Maternal grandparents are Lawrence and Delores Brinker of Madison. Paternal grandparents are Philip and Linda Slover of Granite City.

Military

Mary Alvarez
Army Pvt. Mary F. Alvarez has entered basic military training at Fort Jackson in Columbia, S.C. During eight weeks of training, she will study the Army mission and will receive instruction in drill and ceremonies, weapons, map reading, tactics, military courtesy, military justice, first aid, Army history and traditions and special training in human relations. Alvarez is the daughter of Barbara J. Alvarez of Granite City. She is a 1994 graduate of Granite City High School. Jason Brown Marine Pvt. Jason M. Brown, a 1992 graduate of Granite City High School, recently completed basic training at Marine Corps Recruit Depot in San Diego.

Brown successfully completed 11 weeks of training designed to challenge new Marine recruits both physically and mentally. Brown and fellow recruits began their training at 5 a.m. by running three miles and performing calisthenics. In addition to the physical conditioning program, Brown spent numerous hours in classroom and field assignments, which included learning first aid, uniform regulations, combat water survival, marksmanship, hand-to-hand combat and assorted weapons training. Brown and fellow recruits worked as a team to solve a number of tactical problems during the program. They performed close-order drill and operated as a Marine small infantry unit in the field. Brown and other recruits also received instruction on the Marine Corps' core values: honor, courage and commitment and what the words mean in personal and professional conduct.

Organization

Organization

Annellen P. Smith and Shirley Ochoa recently returned from a Business and Professional Women USA Conference in Washington, D.C.

Because Ochoa is on the state legislative committee, she was asked to represent Illinois at the national legislative platform committee.

"It was a unique opportunity, and it was an honor to be asked to attend as a state representative," said Ochoa. She said the purpose of this committee is to develop and approve the legislative platform that will be introduced on the conference floor and approved by that general body.

On the conference floor, the representatives heard several speakers, the vice president of the United States, Al Gore; Robert Reich, secretary of labor; and Sen. Tom Harkin (D-Iowa). Every one of the speakers spoke well of the organization. Each speaker told the group that the women of America do count and that women have come a long way.

"But, women still have a way to go before they break the glass ceiling," said Reich. He said that because women generally are paid less than men, their pensions are smaller and, in addition, women tend to live longer, which means they need to be very concerned about their pensions and savings.

Gore told the group that women are important to him and that they can and often do make a difference in legislation that is passed or considered to be passed.

Numbers of women at the polls can change the climate and the attitudes of the legislators.

The group heard a keynote luncheon speaker, Dee Dee Myers, former press secretary for President Clinton, and Mary Malin, former campaign manager for George Bush. Both presented their views on the political atmosphere and the way that they thought the future of the nation would shape up. Both repeated the same message that women at the polls can make dramatic changes.

The business and conference was to elect new officers for the coming year and to address the by-laws. BPW/USA offered a variety of workshops, such as thriving in downsizing, domestic violence, clinical depression, managing diversity and the ABC's of small business, to name a few.

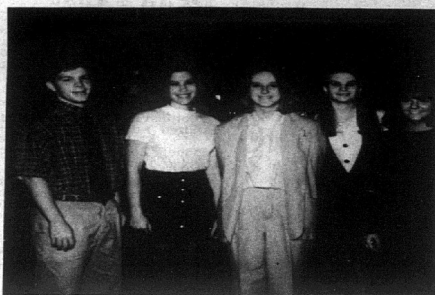

Finally, Audrey Haynes, the executive director of BPW/USA, gave a summary of her activities of the last year. She has met with President Clinton. In addition, she has had press coverage with USA Today, Working Women and Entrepreneur, to clarify BPW's position on women's issues.

Haynes testified at the Federal Drug Administration concerning a generic drug for Premierin and attended the national Lobby Day and had a conversation with Attorney General Janet Reno, once again concerning women's issues.

She has spoken to the House on minimum wage. She said the BPW/USA was the only women's organization there. She was on Phil Donahue's show defending affirmative action and had discussions with Sen. McCabe (D-Ohio) on pay equity.

Haynes has had the opportunity to talk with Leon Pineta, press secretary, and Sen. Carol Mosley-Braun of Illinois on women's pension and pay equity. She has been quoted on BPW issues on C-Span and Fox and in Ladies Home Journal, Glamour, Chicago Sun Times and Voice of America.

These are just a few of the activities of the BPW. If you are a woman who is interested in promoting women's pay equity, women's health issues, affirmative action or other women's issues that you feel are important, you are invited to join the Granite City Business and Professional Women and learn more. The club meets the third Wednesday of each month at Jerry's Cafeteria in Granite City. For more information, call 931-5223 or 931-7099.

TRUANCY NOTICE

In an effort to curtail the chronic truancy rate in the Granite City School District, the Truancy Officer of Coordinated Youth and Human Services will be adhering more closely to the City Ordinance regarding truancy effective September 3, 1996.

If a student enrolled in Granite City District #9 is absent from school without just cause, the student and parents or guardian may be charged on a violation of City Ordinance for each absence.

This notice is an attempt to inform all Granite City District #9 students, and their parents, or any person missing 10 days or more during the last school year, of the heightened effort to get students in school.

Questions may be directed to Paula Hubbard or Julie Adams at 876-2383.

Making Future Healthcare Decisions Now

Ways to ensure your healthcare wishes are followed.

Program:

Memorial Hospital encourages you as a patient to exercise your right to make decisions regarding your medical care and treatment. An important decision which you and your family may have to face --- an issue that Memorial feels is a very personal and emotional one --- is the decision to sustain or prolong life using artificial methods. This program will explore the legal and spiritual aspects of documents known as "advance directives."

Advance Directives allow you to notify your physicians and the hospital of your wishes with respect to life --- sustaining treatment as well as allow you to appoint a person to make decisions on your behalf when you are unable to make these decisions yourself.

Speakers:

Kirsten Hines
General Counsel, Memorial Hospital
Rev. James Corbett
Chaplain, Memorial Hospital
Margaret Wayne, LCSW
Social Service Director, Memorial Hospital

Clinton, Dole not just blowing smoke in flap

The campaign skirmish over tobacco is being waged by firsthand smokers on their second wind.

Trading charges of hypocrisy and bad science, Bob Dole on one side and Bill Clinton and Al Gore on the other, all are keenly aware of the weed's pleasures, destructiveness and political power.

Smoking helped a young Dole get through his war injuries and played a part in his brother's death. Smoking helped Vice President Gore as a soldier in Vietnam and is thought to have killed his sister.

Cigars have been the exclamation point on some of President Clinton's prime times of relaxation and achievement. His mother quit smoking six years before her death from breast cancer, as a birthday present to her granddaughter, Chelsea, when she turned 8.

Both parties get tobacco money, although the Republicans have been getting five times more. Gore, now attacking Dole on the issue, used to join him in the Senate to defend tobacco interests.

Clinton ridiculed Dole for questioning whether tobacco is addictive for everyone. But the president himself may be a rare example of when it is not — he has confessed to smoking "five or six" cigars a year.

"In Clinton's case he neither has a physiological addiction nor a regular psychological habituation," John Ranzhaf, head of the Washington-based Action on Smoking and Health, said when Clinton's occasional smoking habit was described.

Ranzhaf, an anti-smoking activist for three decades, said Dole's comments on addiction contained "a grain of truth and a grain of misunderstanding" that he feared smokers would use as an excuse not to stop.

The government's Centers for Disease Control and Prevention says only 8 percent of smokers who try to quit actually succeed. Thirty-four percent try to quit each year.

Clinton said he smoked a pipe for four years, but only in winter. He said in December of his cigar smoking, "basically I don't anymore." His campaign spokesmen could not say whether he has stopped completely.

Dole found cigarettes "a godsend," one of his few pleasures during bedridden days in the hospital. Then he found them a devilish habit to break as he entered politics smoke-free.

Gore quit smoking about 20 years ago, said media representative Lorraine Voles. He stopped growing tobacco on his Tennessee farm after his sister, Nancy Gore Hunger, a smoker, got lung cancer. She died in 1984.

But Gore had a Senate voting record largely supportive of tobacco farmers; Dole, even more so.

Gore, like Dole, defended federal price supports and an antitrust exemption for the industry. He did not vote when the Senate banned smoking on short flights in 1987, but backed the wider ban for domestic flights two years later.

Dyslexics show unusual brain response

A part of the brain that turns on when a person sees objects in motion does not get activated normally in people with dyslexia, a study suggests.

If confirmed by further studies, the finding might be used to diagnose dyslexia in children, said researcher Guinevere Eden.

It may also mean that reading difficulties, the best known sign of dyslexia, are just part of a wider abnormality in brain functioning, she said. It's too soon to tell whether the motion-related abnormality is directly related to the reading difficulties, she said.

Eden, a visiting fellow at the National Institute of Mental Health, reported the work with colleagues in today's issue of the journal Nature.

The study involved six men with severe dyslexia and eight men without it. All viewed moving arrays of dots while undergoing brain scans. The motion-related part of the brain was activated in all the non-dyslexic participants. It remained at rest in five men with dyslexia and was only partially activated in the sixth.

Participants with dyslexia also did worse than the other men in a separate test of judging how fast dots were moving. But the problem was so small that it would not usually be noticed in everyday life, researchers said.
